

Portfolio Scoring

Identify risks and opportunities within your portfolio

Tie together your entire risk analysis process — from the front-end inquiry to the back-end account review — with Portfolio Scoring from Experian.

Portfolio management

When you choose Experian to help improve portfolio management through Portfolio Scoring, your portfolio is enhanced with current and accurate credit information, business demographics, and legal and public information. You also may choose to receive risk-assessment scores from Experian's suite of IntelliscoreSM models, Vista[®] or a custom model. When you enhance your file with Portfolio Scoring information regularly, you acquire the ability to look at the most up-to-date information on your portfolio, so you can view changes over time. This information will help you make incisive portfolio management decisions.

Portfolio Scoring provides a wealth of credit information for each account scored. There are up to 14 data elements provided, including:

- Current risk score and percentile
- Average days beyond terms
- Current trade balance
- Number of legal items and balance listed for that account
- Aging of the account's balance with your company
- Years in business
- Standard Industrial Classification code

Portfolio Scoring is provided via tape, diskette or e-mail. Information can be viewed and analyzed using Experian's Account AdvisorSM software or your own internal viewing and analysis system.
